Total Quality Logistics is one of North America's premier third party freight brokers providing the necessary means of moving America's goods and services. Construction of their new 100,000 square foot, four story headquarters just outside of Cincinnati, OH began in early 2006 and was completed nearly one year later. Everything of this design build project by their General Contractor, Cincinnati United Contractors, is state-of-the-art and geared to meeting the comfort needs of their highly motivated staff of over 800 employees and their 24/7/365 operation. The new facility includes a 6,000 sq.ft. workout room, cafeteria and all of it on top of 100,000 Sq. Ft. of ASM raised flooring.

Key to TQL's corporate story is their "Environmental View" that along with energy saving T-8 light fixtures, superior use of "daylighting", a substantial in-house recycling program, the company's promotion of the use of underfloor air and it's delivery improved indoor air quality. They do not underestimate it's importance to overall employee productivity and health concerns with high occupancy concentrations of employees. There are a variety of floor finishes present throughout TQL's facility including bamboo planking in the two story atrium main entry providing a custom finish and detail demanded by today's corporate entities.
